CAULIFLOWER EARS DON'T GROW
ON FIGHTERS IN PRIZE RING

CHICAGO, December 23.—Did you ever stop to figure how many fighters have tin ears and then wonder how they came to get them. There is scarcely a wrestler in the business who doesn't sport a large order of cauliflower on his head, but it is natural that they should get them, after one considers the strenuousness of the mat game.

A bunch of fighters were talking about this the other night, and somebody asked where all of the cauliflowers on the fighters come from.

"I've seen a lot of fights and never saw a fighter pounded on the ear enough to give him a hunk of gristle like that," he remarked.

Then Nate Lewis, who has managed some of the good ones and seen all of them all over the country, drifted into the discussion.

Get Them in the Gyms.

"You're right, the fighters don't get those ears in the ring at all; they pick them up in the gymnasiums," quoth Lewis, and made everybody sit up and agree with him.

"When I had Kid Herman, who was about as shifty a fellow as any of the second-rate lightweights and better than some of the topnotchers," Lewis continued, "he picked up a tinier than was nothing short of a beaut. Billy Stiff, the middleweight, gave it to him in a gymnasium one afternoon, and the thing never got any better."

How They Get Them.
"Charley White, the featherweight here, who is as clever a lad as anybody—yes, I was going to say Abe Attell, but I'll qualify that a little—never was punished any in the ring and was knocked down but once. Yet look at the corking piece of tripe he sports. Well he got that fooling one afternoon up at O'Connell's with Big John Willie.

"George Brown also got one in the same way—just foolin' around and not watching out.

"There's only one way you can account for it. In a fight a boxer will protect himself to the last outside limit. He is ever on the alert for a punch, slipping his head, ducking, sidestepping and all the rest of it, to escape punishment. Hence a fighter who knows something is seldom hit on the ear.

Carelessness the Cause.
"But in a gymnasium it's different. The men go on to box, usually little fellows with big ones, and they get careless. They aim to get exercise merely, and the alertness of the actual encounter is not shown. Hence all sort of punches are landed, and the first thing you know, sizzle! up swells the listener and the fighter is disgraced for the rest of his natural life.

"And there's no seeming cure for this infallible and unmistakable badge of the profession, either. Many a fighter has tried to have it fixed up, but without success. They get worse. If anything, the more they are treated. "It's a part of the game, I guess, and when a fighter gets one it's his for all time."

The wrestlers get them in contests all right, and one good head blow, with the ear bent over forward, will crush it like so much pulp, and give him the fancy badge.

STRAGGLERS WON BOWLING MATCH

The second game of the Y. M. C. A. bowling tourney was played last night on the alleys of the institution.

The Stragglers defeated the Brunswick-Balke aggregation in three straight games.

It was decided last night that the total games would in future count in league matches instead of the total pin fall.

This decision gives the weaker teams a better chance than they would have under the former system.

F. A. Edgecomb bowled the high score, 177, last night. He also secured high average with 169. This was for the winning team.

For the losers G. Wilkinson bowled a star game throughout with high scores of 195 and an average of 180.

Superintendent Wisdom is to be congratulated on the highly satisfactory manner in which the tournament is being conducted.

PINCHOT RAPS BOSSES.

MEDINA, Ohio, December 29.—Gifford Pinchot, ex-chief forester of the United States, and friend and adviser of Theodore Roosevelt, made a political speech here today in which he attacked bosses and bossism.

"To a boss, a party is not a principle but a tool," said Mr. Pinchot. "In New York state, for example, Murphy is a Democrat, Barnes a Republican. Both stand for all that is shameful, and all that is unfair, in political life."

"I see little to choose between Penrose, servant of the Pennsylvania railroad, leader of the regular Republicans in the United States Senate and adviser of the administration, and Herrin, the defeated and discredited political manager of the Southern Pacific in California, except this, that
